Introduction

Remarkable Autism Ltd recognises that learner/students can be vulnerable to extremist ideology and radicalisation. And we are committed to protecting learner/students from this risk as part of our safeguarding responsibilities.

Our commitment to safeguarding learner/students against extremism, radicalisation and terrorism includes interventions and collaboration with other agencies including the police and the Local Authority (LA) where appropriate and as required.

We support and will adhere to guidance from the DfE (Department for Education) which requires schools and colleges to actively promote fundamental British values in order to enable learner/students to challenge extremist views and ensure that learner/students are encouraged to regard people of all faiths, races and cultures with respect and tolerance.

This policy relates to the potential radicalisation of learner/students at our organisation. When implementing this duty, Remarkable Autism Ltd uses the following Government definition of extremism which is:

“Vocal or active opposition to fundamental British values, including democracy, the rule of law, individual liberty and mutual respect and tolerance of different faiths and beliefs... (and/or) ... calls for the death of members of our armed forces, whether in the country in this country or overseas”.

Policy

Purpose

From July 2015, all schools, registered early years childcare providers and registered later years childcare providers are subject to a duty under section 26 of the Counter-Terrorism and Security Act 2015.

It is outlined in the 2024 guidance as “means that the authorities should place an appropriate amount of weight on the need to prevent people from becoming terrorists or supporting terrorism when they consider all the other factors relevant to how they carry out their usual functions.” This duty is known as the Prevent duty. (<https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/the-prevent-duty-safeguarding-learners-vulnerable-to-radicalisation>)

Aim(s):

The Remarkable Autism Ltd Prevent policy is designed to:

- Ensure all members of the Remarkable Group community understand the risks of radicalisation within our organisation and how this risk may change from time to time.
- Ensure staff are aware of the Prevent Duty and are able to protect children and young people who are vulnerable or may be at risk of being radicalised.
- Promote fundamental principles of British values, including democracy, the rule of law, individual liberty and mutual respect, and tolerance of those with different faiths and beliefs.

Whilst following the Prevent Strategy Remarkable Autism Ltd also maintains its mission for diversity to be a core part of all that it does. Remarkable Autism Ltd places a strong emphasis on the common values that all communities share such as self-respect, understanding, tolerance and the sanctity of life. Learners and students are taught to respect and value diversity as well as understanding how to make safe, well-considered decisions.

Roles and Responsibilities

Designated/Deputy Designated Safeguarding & Prevent Lead (DSPL/DDSPL)

In line with Recommendation 2 of Peter Clarke's report (July 2014):

"The governing body of every school extends the responsibilities of the teacher designated Child Protection Officer to include Prevent within his/her role. The mandatory Child Protection bi-annual update training undertaken by these responsible teachers should include the Prevent Strategy. This training should then be cascaded by the Child Protection Officer to every member of staff, governor or volunteer as an adult involved in the protection of children at the school."

The role of the Designated Safeguard Lead (DSL) will be extended to include the responsibilities of the Prevent strand of the Government's counter-terrorism strategy. This includes:

- Handling any referrals to the Channel programme and supporting staff to make referrals
- Following up any referrals made to the Channel
- Provide advice and support to staff on protecting learner/students at risk from the risk of radicalisation
- Provide/Organise staff training on the Prevent Duty
- Provide guidance to other staff members to help them support learner/students at risk of being drawn into terrorism

- Understanding local procedures for making Prevent referral and making Prevent referrals where appropriate
- Considering if it would be appropriate to share any information with a new school or college in advance of a learner/student leaving, e.g., if the learner/student is currently receiving support through the 'Channel' programme and the information would allow the new setting to have support in place for when the learner/student arrives.
- Establishing protocols which ensure that visiting speakers (invited by staff or students) are suitable and appropriately supervised within school/college.
- working in partnership with St Helens Safeguarding Children's Board (SCB), the students' individual SCBs, Adult social care and community police for guidance and support
- Attending appropriate 'designated person' training at least every two years which will also include training on extremism and radicalisation and its safeguarding implications.
- Coordinating referral to Channel or SCB/Local Safeguarding Adults Board (LSAB) and any other bodies as appropriate e.g.: Independent Safeguarding Authority (ISA), placing authority.
- Developing an appropriate and relevant 24- hour curriculum which ensures students are equipped with the skills to be resilient and keep themselves safe from extremism.

Remarkable Autism Limited:

Designated Safeguarding and Prevent Lead: CEO

Wargrave House School:

Chief Executive Officer

Where a concern refers to the DSPL then the Chief Executive Officer (in consultation with the DDSPL) will take the lead into any such investigations.

Head Teacher/ Head of Adult Services.

The Head Teacher/ Head of Adult Services is responsible for:

- The overall implementation and management of this policy
- Ensuring every staff member is familiar with the scope of this policy
- Ensuring learner/students are taught about British values through the curriculum
- Ensuring the organisation is a safe place in which learner/students can understand and discuss sensitive topics, including terrorism and extremism, and are able to challenge these ideas.
- Undertaking a risk assessment to determine whether learner/students are at risk of being drawn into terrorism
- Identifying extremist risks in the local area
- Ensuring visitors and speakers at the school/college are appropriate and vetted prior to them having access to learner/students.

The Governing Body and Board of Trustees

The Governing Body and Board of Trustees will undertake appropriate training to ensure they are clear about their roles and the parameters of their responsibilities as Governors and Trustees, including their statutory safeguarding duties and the Prevent Duty.

The designated Safeguarding Link Governor, for both Wargrave House School and Ascent College, will include the Prevent Duty in this aspect of their role supporting the organisation in tackling extremism and radicalisation and monitoring practice.

In line with Recommendation 13 of Peter Clarke's report (July 2014):
"All schools should include details on their website of their governing body. This should include the full name of the individuals, along with any committees they attend; the method of appointment (e.g., whether a local authority appointment or an elected parent governor); and the expected period of the appointment, in order to promote transparency over the running of schools"

Details of the Governing Body will be published on the Wargrave House School website and the Ascent College website to promote transparency.

Staff

All staff members are responsible for:

- Using their professional judgement to identify learner/students who may be at risk of radicalisation and acting proportionately
- Build student resilience to radicalisation by promoting fundamental British values and enabling them to challenge extremist views.
- Understand the risks of young people being drawn into terrorisms so that they can respond in an appropriate way.
- Be aware of the online risk of radicalisation through social media and the internet.
- Be alert to the risk factors of extremism and radicalisation and any changes in a learner/student's behaviour which could indicate that they may be in need of help or protection
- Raising any concerns with the DSL (or deputies, in their absence)
- Not carry out unnecessary intrusion into family life but know how to take action when they observe behaviour of concern.
- Continue to build effective engagement with parents/carers and families.
- Know what to do if they have a concern about an individual in relation to extremism or radicalisation.

Whistleblowing

All employees are expected to bring to the attention of the Chief Executive Officer/Chair of Governors any serious impropriety or breach of procedure which have an impact/potential for impact on the safety and wellbeing of students (Remarkable Autism Ltd Policy on Whistleblowing).

Concerns can also be raised through external bodies such as Ofsted, a union representative, or the local police.

The Public Interest Disclosure Act gives employees who suffer detrimental treatment, including dismissal, because of disclosing malpractice, the right to seek compensation in an Employment Tribunal.

Parents/Carers and Families

Remarkable Autism Ltd strives to engender effective engagement with parents/carers and families through a variety of strategies which is crucial to the success of all interventions in school and college. The Prevent Duty recognises that such partnership working is important as parents/carers are in a key position to spot signs of radicalisation.

The DSPL (through school/college media) will support parents/carers to understand the signs of a young person who may be at risk of extremism or radicalisation, advising and supporting families who raise concerns.

Policy

There is no place for extremist views of any kind in our organisation, whether from internal sources student, staff, governors or trustees, or external sources – the wider school and college community, external agencies, or individuals.

Our students see our school, college provision as a safe place where they can explore controversial issues safely and where our staff encourage and facilitate this – we have a duty to ensure this happens.

As a school and college, we recognise that extremism and exposure to extremist materials and influences can lead to poor outcomes for children/young people and so should be addressed as a safeguarding concern as set out in this policy. We also recognise that if we fail to challenge extremist views, we are failing to protect our young people.

Extremists of all persuasions aim to develop destructive relationships between different communities by promoting division, fear and mistrust of others based on ignorance or prejudice and thereby limiting the life chances of young people. Education is a powerful weapon against this; equipping young people with the knowledge, skills, and critical thinking, to challenge and debate in an informed way.

Therefore, we will provide a broad and balanced curriculum, delivered by skilled professionals, so that our students are enriched, understand, and become tolerant of difference and diversity and to ensure that they thrive, feel valued and not marginalised.

Furthermore, we are aware that young people can be exposed to extremist influences or prejudiced views from an early age which emanate from a variety of sources and media, including via the internet, and at times students may themselves reflect or display views that may be discriminatory, prejudice or extremist, including using derogatory language.

Any prejudice, discrimination, or extremist views, including derogatory language, displayed by students or staff will always be challenged and, where appropriate, dealt with in line with our Behaviour Management Policy for students and the Staff Code of Conduct.

In line with the Acceptable Use of IT policy, the school and college use online safety and monitoring controls to help identify and manage potential safeguarding risks. These controls support our duties under the government's Prevent Strategy by enabling the identification of concerning online activity. Further details are outlined in the Acceptable Use of IT policy.

Procedure

Supporting Students - Risk Factors

We will assess risk, by means of a formal risk assessment, of young people being drawn into terrorism, including support for extremist ideas that are part of terrorist ideology.

As with the wider safeguarding agenda it is essential that we focus on equipping students with the skills needed to keep themselves safe. Whilst there is no single way of identifying an individual who is likely to be susceptible to terrorist ideology, the Channel project uses a vulnerability framework which assesses whether individuals need support to safeguard them from the risk of being targeted by terrorists or radicalisers. The framework covers 22 factors that may cause someone to:

- Engage with a terrorist group, cause or ideology
- Develop the intent to cause harm
- Develop the capability to cause harm (See appendix 2)

Students at Remarkable Autism Ltd may be susceptible to the perceived 'attractions' of extremism due to their vulnerabilities arising from their Autism e.g., inflexibility, poor theory of mind, social impairment, egocentricity, impaired imagination. Once again, this does not mean all young people with Autism are at risk, but these factors should be taken into account.

Curriculum

We will all strive to eradicate the myths and assumptions that can lead to some young people becoming alienated and disempowered, especially where the narrow approaches children and young people may experience elsewhere may make it harder for them to challenge or question these radical influences. At Remarkable Autism Ltd this will be achieved by good teaching; but also, by adopting the methods outlined in the Government's guidance 'Teaching approaches that help build resilience to extremism among young people' DfE 2011.

We will ensure that all our approaches help students build resilience to extremism and give them a positive sense of identity through the development of critical thinking skills. We will ensure that all our staff are equipped to recognise extremism and are skilled and confident enough to challenge it. We will be flexible enough to adapt our teaching approaches, as appropriate, to address specific issues to become even more relevant to the current issues of extremism and radicalisation. In doing so we will apply the 'key ingredients' for success taken from the DfE document above and we will apply the methodologies set out in that document following the three broad categories of:

- Making a connection with young people through good teaching and a student centred, Autism specific approach;
- Facilitating a 'safe space' for dialogue, and

- Equipping our students with the appropriate skills, knowledge, understanding and awareness for resilience.

Therefore, this approach will be embedded within the ethos of Remarkable Autism Ltd across the 24-hour period so that students know and understand what safe and acceptable behaviour is in the context of extremism and radicalisation. This will work in conjunction with our approach to the Spiritual, Moral, Social and Cultural development of students and will include the sound use of assemblies, visiting speakers, external visits, community-based learning and other curricular activities to help further promote this rounded development of our students.

Our goal is to build mutual respect and understanding and to promote the use of dialogue not violence as a form of conflict resolution. We will achieve this by using a curriculum that includes:

- Citizenship programmes;
- Open discussion and debate;
- Work on anti-violence and a restorative approach addressed throughout curriculum and the behaviour policy;
- Focussed educational programmes;
- Autism specific support including the expertise of in-house specialist speech & language therapists.
- Community-based learning.

We will also work with local partners, families and communities in our efforts to ensure Remarkable Autism Ltd understands and embraces our local context and values in challenging extremist views and to assist in the broadening of our students' experiences and horizons. We will help support students who may be vulnerable to such influences as part of our wider safeguarding responsibilities and where we believe a student is being directly affected by extremist materials or influences we will ensure that that student is offered mentoring. Additionally, in such instances our organisation will seek external support from the Local Authority and/or local partnership structures working to prevent extremism.

We recognise, however, that the ethos of Remarkable Autism Ltd is to encourage students to understand opposing views and ideologies, appropriate to their age, understanding and abilities, and to be able to actively engage with them in informed debate, and we may use external agencies or speakers to facilitate and support this.

Therefore, by delivering a broad and balanced curriculum and enrichment programme augmented using external sources where appropriate, we will strive to ensure our students recognise risk and build resilience to manage any such risk themselves where appropriate to their age and ability but also to help students develop the critical thinking skills needed to engage in informed debate.

We encourage the use of external agencies or speakers to enrich the experiences of our students, however we will positively vet those external agencies, individuals or speakers who we engage to provide such learning opportunities or experiences for our students.

These external agencies will be vetted to ensure that we do not unwittingly use agencies that contradict each other with their messages or that are inconsistent with, or are in complete opposition to, our values and ethos. We must be aware that in some instances the work of external agencies may not be directly connected with the 24-hour curriculum, so we need to ensure that this work is of benefit to students. We will assess the suitability and effectiveness of input from external agencies or individuals according to the company risk assessment for external agencies (appendix 3).

Reporting Concerns

Where there are concerns of extremism or radicalisation staff will follow established Remarkable Autism Ltd's Whistleblowing procedures using the CPOMS report system. This will be made to the DSPL (or deputy in their absence).

In the case that the concern is about the DSPL, this should be raised directly with the Chief Executive Officer.

The DSPL will then ensure a timely referral to the Merseyside Prevent team advising that the concern relates specifically to extremism/threat or terrorism and the multi-agency Channel approach should be invoked. (Appendix 1).

In some circumstances, the DSL/Deputy DSL may contact the Merseyside Channel contact to seek advice for further action. As with all safeguarding matters, consideration of student's welfare will take precedence:

Legal Context

The duty to prevent children and young people being radicalised is set out in the following legislation:

The Counter Terrorism and Security Act 2015 was published in March 2015. Section 26 of the Act places a duty on schools and colleges to prevent people from being drawn into terrorism.

The Prevent strategy, published by the Government in 2011, is part of the overall counter-terrorism strategy, CONTEST. The aim of the Prevent strategy is to reduce the threat to the UK from terrorism by stopping people becoming terrorists or supporting terrorism. In the Act this is expressed as the need to "prevent people from being drawn into terrorism".

Keeping Children Safe in Education 2024. Protecting children from the risk of radicalisation should be seen as part of schools' and colleges' wider safeguarding duties and is similar in nature to protecting children from other forms of harm and abuse.

Working Together to Safeguard Children 2021 describes the duties of all statutory bodies to safeguard children and protect them from harm including preventing radicalisation.

The Human Rights Act 1998 gives specific rights to every person living in the UK, for example the right to life and freedom from torture and degrading treatment.

The Data Protection Act 1998 regulates the way in which personal data needs to be handled and therefore protects people's data from being placed in the wrong hands which might make them more vulnerable to abuse. The Data Protection Act 2018 is the UK's implementation of the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR).

The Equality Act 2010 protects people from discrimination and disadvantage due to protected characteristics including: race, gender, disability, sexual orientation, transgender, religion and age.

Policy Impact

We have a rolling program for reviewing our Company policies. We regularly review the impact of our policies on the needs, entitlements and outcomes for students, service users, staff and parents.

CHANNEL PROCESS

The diagram show the different stages within the Channel Process:

Source: 'Channel: Protecting vulnerable people from being drawn into terrorism—A guide for local partnerships'. HM Government, October 2012

Appendix 2

Channel Vulnerability Assessment Framework

Channel is a key element of the Prevent strategy (Prevent review \(publishing.service.gov.uk\)). It is a multi-agency approach to protect people at risk from radicalisation. Channel uses existing collaboration between local authorities, statutory partners (such as the education and health sectors, social services, children's and youth services and offender management services), the police and the local community to:

- Identify individuals at risk of being drawn into terrorism;
- Assess the nature and extent of that risk; and
- Develop the most appropriate support plan for the individuals concerned.

Channel is about safeguarding children and adults from being drawn into committing terrorist-related activity. It is about early intervention to protect and divert people away from the risk they face before illegality occurs. It should not be assumed that the characteristics set out below necessarily indicate that a person is either committed to terrorism or may become a terrorist. The assessment framework involves three dimensions: engagement, intent and capability, which are considered separately.

Engagement with a group, cause or ideology

Engagement factors are sometimes referred to as “psychological hooks”. They include needs, susceptibilities, motivations and contextual influences and together map the individual pathway into terrorism. They can include:

- Feelings of grievance and injustice
- Feeling under threat
- A need for identity, meaning and belonging
- A desire for status
- A desire for excitement and adventure
- A need to dominate and control others
- Susceptibility to indoctrination
- A desire for political or moral change
- Opportunistic involvement
- Family or friends involvement in extremism
- Being at a transitional time of life
- Being influenced or controlled by a group
- Relevant mental health issues

The organisation will cooperate with local panels involved in the Channel process. A representative of the school and college will attend meetings as required to aid the mitigation of identified risk and vulnerabilities. This includes contributing towards the support plan and sharing information necessary and proportionate to the effective working of the panel.

Intent to cause harm

Not all those who become engaged by a group, cause or ideology go on to develop an intention to cause harm, so this dimension is considered separately. Intent factors describe the mind-set that is associated with a readiness to use violence and address what the individual would do and to what end. They can include:

- Over-identification with a group or ideology
- 'Them and Us' thinking
- Dehumanisation of the enemy
- Attitudes that justify offending
- Harmful means to an end
- Harmful objectives

Capability to cause harm

Not all those who have a wish to cause harm on behalf of a group, cause or ideology are capable of doing so, and plots to cause widespread damage take a high level of personal capability, resources and networking to be successful. What the individual is capable of is therefore a key consideration when assessing risk of harm to the public. Factors can include:

- Individual knowledge, skills and competencies
- Access to networks, funding or equipment
- Criminal Capability

Preventing radicalisation

The organisation will assess the risk of learners/students being drawn into terrorism through identifying the factors that affect children in the local area and knowing how to identify those at risk.

Allegations and concerns of radicalisation and/or terrorism will always be taken seriously and staff will act proportionately, which may include making a Prevent referral.

Where appropriate, learner/students will be helped to channel their desire for excitement and adventure into suitable and healthy activities.

Extremist propaganda is widely available online – the organisation will ensure that British values are promoted regularly to encourage learner/students to develop an appreciation of society. The organisation will work with local religious and cultural organisations to instil a strong sense of identity in our learner/students, as well as a clear place and purpose within the organisation.

Remarkable Autism recognises that learners' /students' parents and families are best-placed to spot signs of radicalisation and, as such, will promote effective engagement with parents and families.

All internet activity that takes place on site will be recorded, as well as activity on any organisation-owned computers, laptops and tablets off site, and appropriate filters will be installed to protect children from terrorist and extremist material online, in accordance with the Online Safety Policy. In accordance with KCSIE and our Child Protection and Safeguarding Policy, learner/students will be taught about the importance of staying safe online through PSHE and Essential Digital Skills lessons.

We will always aim to integrate and engage every child within the school and college community, and in the wider community. A range of different religious and cultural festivals will be celebrated across the year giving every learner/student the opportunity to take part.

We will monitor and assess incidents which suggest learner/students are engaging, or are at risk of engaging, in extremist activity and/or radicalisation. Where a learner/student has been identified as at risk of radicalisation, the school/college will take action proportionate to the incident or risk.

Making a Judgement

Although extremist behaviour can be presented in many forms, the organisation recognises the following as potential indicators of radicalisation or a susceptibility to radicalisation:

- Disclosure about extremist or radicalised behaviour by learner/students – this could include exposure to materials outside of school/college
- Use of specific terms associated with certain ideological views, e.g., 'hate' language
- Intelligence reports from local and national agencies regarding the radicalisation of groups of people in the local area
- Focus on specific narratives that highlight particular extremist views
- Evidence of accessing online materials that include extremist materials
- Refusal to accept views expressed by others which is counter to our Equality, Diversity & Inclusion Policy
- Documented concerns raised by parents or family members about the changing behaviour of the learner/student
- References to an extremist narrative in the learner/student's work
- Disassociation from existing friendship groups
- A loss of interest in activities in which they previously engaged
- Behavioural characteristics, such as low self-esteem, isolation, and perceptions of failure and injustice
- Family tensions
- Events affecting their country or region of origin
- Alienation from UK values
- Grievance triggered by personal experience of discrimination
- Property damage

- Refusal to cooperate with the requests of teachers or other adults

When assessing whether a learner/student is at risk of radicalisation, staff will ask themselves the following questions:

- Does the learner/student have access to extremist influences through the internet?
- Does the learner/student possess or actively seek extremist material?
- Does the learner/student sympathise with, or support, extremist groups or behaviour in their speech or written work?
- Does the learner/student's demeanour suggest a new social, religious or political influence, e.g., through jewellery or clothing?
- Has the learner/student previously been a victim of discrimination or a religious crime?
- Has the learner/student experienced any major disagreements with their peers, family or faith groups, and leading to rejection, isolation or exclusion?
- Does the learner/student display an irregular and distorted view of religion or politics?
- Does the learner/student display a strong objection towards specific cultures, faiths or race?
- Is the learner/student a foreign national awaiting a decision regarding deportation or immigration?
- Is there an irregular pattern of travel within the learner/student's family?
- Has the learner/student witnessed or suffered from trauma or violence in a war zone or through sectarian conflict?
- Is there evidence of a relative or family friend displaying extremist views?
- Has the learner/student travelled for extended periods of time to international locations?
- Does the learner/student have experience of poverty, disadvantage, discrimination or social exclusion?
- Does the learner/student display a lack of affinity or understanding for others?
- Is the learner/student a victim of social isolation?
- Does the learner/student have insecure, conflicted or absent family relationships?

Critical indicators include where a learner/student is:

- In contact with extremist recruiters.
- Articulating support for extremist causes or leaders.
- Accessing extremist websites.
- In possession of extremist literature.
- Using extremist narratives and a global ideology to explain personal disadvantage.
- Justifying the use of violence to solve societal issues.
- Joining extremist organisations.
- Making significant changes to their appearance and/or behaviour.

The DSL, and any deputies, will undergo termly Prevent awareness training in order to provide advice and support to staff on protecting learner/students from the risk of radicalisation. Staff will undergo termly Prevent awareness training, delivered by the DSL, in order to ensure that they are up to date to recognise indicators of radicalisation. Staff, including the DSL and any deputies, will also undergo regular training in response to any updates.

The school will encourage staff to engage with online government resources, including the website 'Educate Against Hate', and the Prevent e-learning modules provided by the Home Office.

Making a referral

In accordance with the organisations Safeguarding Policies, if any member of staff has any concerns about a learner/student, they will raise this with the DSL/DSPL/DDSL/DDPSL.

Parents will be contacted to discuss the issue and investigate where there are any mitigating home circumstances, unless doing so would put the learner/student at further risk of harm. A decision will be made at this meeting to determine whether a referral should be made to the Channel programme. In most cases, the DSL/DSPL/DDSL/DDPSL's will refer the case to the Channel programme where there is a radicalisation concern, as appropriate.

Staff members may make referrals to the Channel programme if they deem it necessary – the DSL will be notified in all cases and will support staff members who do so. Staff members will be informed that they may be asked to attend a Channel panel to discuss the learner/student who has been referred to determine whether support is required. The LA's Channel panel will decide which support, if any, is required and arrange for this support to be implemented.

The DSL/DSPL/DDSL/DDPSL will follow up any referrals and the learner/student will be monitored for a period of time to determine whether there have been any changes in behaviour. Parents will be consulted during this period, unless doing so would put the learner/student at further risk of harm.

If any concerns are raised, the DSL/DSPL/DDSL/DDPSL will contact the Channel programme to discuss further steps.

The DSL/DSPL/DDSL/DDPSL's will record and retain all incidents for school and college records in accordance with the Data Protection Act 2018 and the UK GDPR, as outlined in the Data Protection Policy.

Promoting fundamental British values

Through the national curriculum, the school/college will:

- Teach our learners/students a broad and balanced international history.
- Represent the cultures of all of our learners/students.
- Teach a wide range of English and non-English literature.
- Commemorate World War 1 and 2.
- Discuss the UK's relations with the rest of Europe, the Commonwealth and the wider world.

Through our social, moral, spiritual and cultural programme, the school/college will:

- Enable learner/students to develop their self-knowledge, self-esteem and self-confidence.
- Enable learner/students to distinguish right from wrong and to respect the civil and criminal law of England.
- Encourage learner/students to accept responsibility for their behaviour, show initiative, and to understand how they can contribute positively to the lives of those living and working in the locality of the school/college and to society more widely.
- Enable learner/students to acquire a broad general knowledge of, and respect for, public institutions and services in England.
- Further tolerance and harmony between different cultural traditions by enabling learner/students to acquire an appreciation of, and respect for, their own and other cultures.
- Encourage respect for other people.
- Encourage respect for democracy and support for participation in the democratic processes, including respect for the basis on which the law is made and applied in England.

The school/college will do this by:

- Including material on the strengths, advantages and disadvantages of democracy, and how democracy and the law work in Britain as part of our curriculum.
- Ensuring that all learners/students within the school/college have a voice that is listened to, e.g., by demonstrating how democracy works via a school council whose members are voted for by the learners/students.
- Using opportunities such as general or local elections to hold mock elections to offer learner/students the chance to engage in politics from an early age.
- Offering a debate club to provide learner/students with the opportunity to learn how to argue and defend points of view.
- Using teaching resources from a wide variety of sources to help learner/students understand a range of faiths.

- Considering the role of extra-curricular activities, including any activity run directly by learner/students, in promoting fundamental British values.

Community Links

The school/college will engage in annual community round-table discussions with local community and religious leaders, and local law enforcement. Governing board meetings will include discussion about extremism and terrorism where appropriate.

The organisation will operate an open-door policy for community members to report concerns.

The school/college will, where appropriate, partake in community festivals, religious celebrations and other events. The school/college will select a range of charities to support across the year which represent our school/college community, including local community groups.

Prevent Data Glossary

Al-Qaeda – An international organisation of loosely affiliated groups/cells that carry out attacks, and bombings in the attempt to disrupt the economies and influence of Western nations and advance Islamic extremism.

British – People who are the inhabitants of Britain (e.g., citizens of England, Scotland, Wales, Northern Ireland, the Isle of Man or one of the Channel Islands, collectively known as the United Kingdom) or an inhabitant of a British overseas territory.

Channel – A key element of the Prevent Strategy; Channel is about safeguarding children and adults from being drawn into committing terrorist-related activity. It is about early intervention to protect and divert people away from the risk they face before illegality occurs.

English Defence League (EDL) – The English Defence is a far right, street protest movement, which opposes what it considers to be a 'spread of Islamism', and Islamic extremism in the United Kingdom.

Ethnicity – This is linked to distinctive shared social, linguistics, physical (e.g., skin colour) cultural and geographical heritage and norms. Religious belonging may be part of these norms. Every person has an ethnicity. To belong to an ethnic group, an individual must see themselves as a member and be seen to others as being a member of the group.

Extremism – One who advocates or resorts to ideologies and measures beyond the norm, in politics and religion often using violence and terror tactics to make their views known, or to gain power.

Ideology – A set of ideas and beliefs of a group, religious or political party

Identity – An umbrella term used to describe an individual's understanding of him or herself; identity is influenced by many factors, gender, ethnicity, religion, nationality, culture, family etc.

Media – The means of communication that reaches large numbers of people e.g., the television, newspapers, and the internet.

Propaganda – Ideas or statements that are often false or exaggerated and that are spread in order to help a cause.

Islamaphobia – A hatred or fear of Muslims, their religion and sometimes related politics or culture.

Islamist – A western term used to describe an extreme Muslim usually politicised.

Jihad – Personal struggle in everyday life; striving to achieve a goal; also used to mean taking up arms if necessary.

Nationalism – A feeling that people have of being loyal to and proud of their country often with the belief that it is better and more important than other countries.

Nationality – the status of belonging to a particular nation by origin, birth, or naturalisation.

Racism – A word that describes a person who favours extreme or fundamental change in existing institutions or in political, social, or economic conditions.

Resilience – The ability to recover quickly from change, or misfortune.

Right wing - A conservative or reactionary element in a political party or other organisation, often associated with fascism, nationalism and racism.

Social media – Forms of electronic communication (web sites, social networking and blogging) through which users create online communities to share information, ideas, personal messages, and other content e.g., videos.

Stereotypes – This involves making generalised assumptions about a person or group; applying these assumptions, expecting people to conform to them.

Terrorism – The unlawful use or threatened use of force or violence by a person or an organised group against people or property with the intention of intimidating individuals, coercing societies or governments, often ideological for political reasons.

Terrorist – One that engaged in acts or an act of terrorism.

Xenophobia – An unreasonable fear or hatred of foreigners or strangers, or of that, which is different, foreign or strange.

Incel – “Incel” is a shortening of the term “involuntarily celibate”. The term has been adopted by a growing group of predominantly white males, who use websites such as Reddit and 4Chan to discuss misogynistic and violent views about women. These views are often a result of feeling rejected by women. They use a shared language to speak in derogatory and dehumanising ways about mainly women, but also men who have sexual relationships with women. Incel is another example of radicalisation.
